

The Dow Chemical Company
Midland, MI 48674
U.S.A.

October 25th, 2016

Dear Customer,

Effective immediately, or as individual contract terms allow, The Dow Chemical Company (Dow) will continue order control on the products announced previously on September, 27th, 2016 and will hereby implement 100% order control on additional Performance Monomer Acrylate Products until further notice. All products under order control are listed in Attachment A. Unless otherwise required by individual contract terms, order control volumes will be determined for each customer by 100% of contractual commitments based upon customer's monthly average of purchase volume or will be restricted to the monthly maximum Dow is contractually obligated to sell.

Currently, Dow is experiencing increased demand for several products. This has made it necessary for Dow to implement order control to continue to reliably serve its customers and to manage the current high demand.

Please contact your Dow sales representative to answer any questions you might have regarding this matter.

Thank you for your business and continued support.

Best regards,
